

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to apply for your Web Developer position at Cartier that is currently listed on LinkedIn. I have just completed my national service and graduated with merit with a Diploma in Infocomm and Security from Nanyang Polytechnic (NYP). I believe that the skills I picked up during my Diploma course will make huge contributions to the organisation.

Although I am a fresh graduate, I am proficient with PHP, HTML5 and JavaScript programming languages and have proven to have exceptional troubleshooting skills. I am also interested in Cybersecurity and spend much of my free time learning about it. I believe this has helped me immensely when it comes to security, because I am not only thinking of the end goal, but also the security of the website. I strive to build powerful websites that have logical layouts and are secure. I work well under pressure and have no problems meeting tight deadlines. I enjoy the collaborative aspect of this job, and I am always open to advice and criticism from my colleagues.

During my time in NYP, I had the opportunity to gain experience in the field and the chance to explore my skills and creativity. As a result, I have realized that I truly enjoy this career because it allows for endless creativity. I am eager to continue growing professionally and hope to one day start my own organisation. However, I think I still have a lot to learn before embarking on that adventure!

I will be honoured to bring my skills and work ethic to support the team at Cartier. Be sure that I will work hard to help take the company to even greater heights and I believe it will be a great working experience. I have attached my resume and hope to speak to you soon to learn more about this opportunity.

Yours Sincerely,
Bryan Ang
